Most Common Data Quality Issues

Top recurring issue categories detected in operational request data

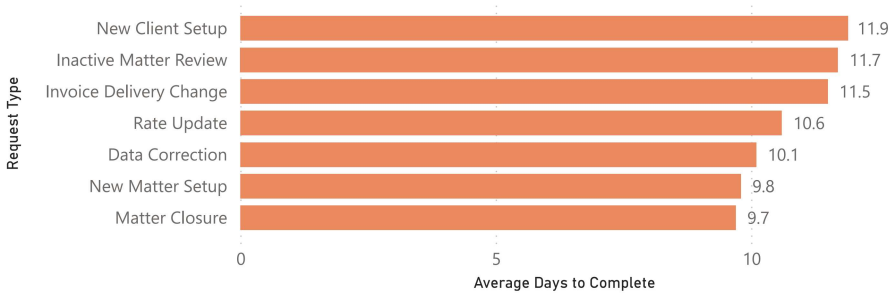

Issue Rate by Responsible Department

Percent of department-owned requests with at least one data quality issue

Average Completion Time by Request Type

Average days from submission to completion by workflow category

Key Findings & Recommendations

Key Findings

- Finance and Legal Operations had the highest issue rates.
- Missing rate type, billing owner, and assigned employee were the most common issues.
- Client Intake and Billing owned the highest request volume.
- Longer completion times suggest certain workflows may need clearer intake requirements.

Recommendations

- Add required fields for billing owner, assigned employee, rate type, and invoice delivery method.
- Standardize client naming rules to reduce duplicate and inconsistent records.
- Create weekly exception reporting for overdue and incomplete requests.

Note: Synthetic dataset created to simulate business operations, data quality, and workflow exception reporting.

Exception Details
